Summer is over, lets get back to work.
The world has a lot of problems one after the other. We all must deal with pension matter; the government decided to raise the consumption tax to 8 percent from 10 percent, thinking about saving... etc...! There are a lot of worries for single women such as me and also there are many children on nursery school waiting lists in Japan... It's a problem that we don't have enough nurseries in Japan... you see, any life you have is full of these problems!?? I heard a skinny person saying that she gained wait of 2 kg... that is not fat. Everyone started serous exercises to reduce the neglect of summer health. But these are very peaceful matters compared to social phenomenon nowadays....Even the body functioning has just stopped and metabolism is at a low level of activity.Middle age is not just eating and non exercise.....Summer is over, lets get back to work.

Yoshushonin

Every travler to Japan that cares about food is excited at the prospect of trying proper Japanese ramen. One place that we recommend wholeheartedly also serves other Chinese dishes given a Japanese interpretation. Yoshushonin is one of the greatest late-night dinner spots in Tokyo; they serve a wide variety of ramen - our favorite being the standard Chuka-Soba (soy-based ramen soup); but also an array of dishes including friend rice, fried noodles and - a personal favorite, shrimp wonton. Most importantly, in a town that stays up late but has little in the way of late-night tasty eating options, Yoshushonin stays open until 4am. It's also important to note that Yoshushonin is child-friendly - with an exciting kids-only option. Opening in Kita-Senju, the chain is located selectively in just the right spot for your post-drink cravings. Our pick is the Higashi-Ikeburo branch.

MISAKO ROSEN OISHI OMIYAGE
Takano fruit

One of my favorite Omiyage shops in Seibu department store is TAKANO which is a fruit shop. Takano is the most famous fruit shop in Tokyo and also they are selling beautiful fruit cakes, chocolate and pastries.
In Japan we have a traditional idea to send expensive gift melon to friends or clients. Melon has some ranking and just regular oranges or bananas are a kind of standard fruit that is expensive but tasty and high quality.If I get a box gift from Takano, it's a bliss moment!
So my gift suggestion no.1 is fruits but If I am traveling I can not bring this but I can always select the best Japanese strawberry Jam, assorted fruits chocolate bags or tea! Especially their seasonal fruits- Jam is highly popular among my friends for a souvenir from Tokyo.
